Exceptional Brothers Doing Exceptional Things

Michael Burns, Epsilon Triton '80 &
Jack Furst, Epsilon Triton '81

When Michael Burns, Epsilon Triton '80 entered Arizona State University, little did he know he would be honored by Arizona State University, Hollywood and the entire Brotherhood of Theta Delta Chi. Brother Burns is the Vice Chairman of Lionsgate, a film studio and global content platform. On March 15, 2017 Bro. Burns was honored as ASU's Alumnus of the year. His career began as a sales representative for IBM, then to serving as the Managing Director and Heads of the Office at Prudential Securities in L.A. and eventually to Lionsgate where he finally became Vice Chairman.

The University of Arizona, at the same event, honored Jack Furst, Epsilon Triton '81 as their Philanthropist of the year. Jack is a private equity investor becoming a founding partner in his own firm. In 2003 he endowed the Jack D. Furst Professor of Finance and sponsored the Furst Honors Scholarship for an undergraduate honors student completing a thesis in private equity financing. Most recently he worked with the Sun Devil Stadium 365 project which raised over $80 million dollars. A hearty congratulations to both brothers who have brought honor and prestige to "the Old Lady" and serve as great roles models for us all.
